Winter Service-Learning: Camden, New Jersey

A group of Seattle Pacific University students will spend December 8-21, 2011 in Camden, New Jersey, working with Urban Promise and the CamdenForward School. The CamdenForward School is a Christian-based educational community providing Camden’s children a learning environment rich in love, hope, and structure. Students are challenged to attain high academic standards, proficient life skills, personal integrity, and develop a Christian worldview (www.urbanpromiseusa.org). Participants will serve as classroom helpers in the K-8 school and after school programs and may also complete other work projects assigned by Urban Promise staff.

The trip also includes a tour of Camden led by Urban Promise staff and discussion of the educational and social issues related to Christian Community Development in urban areas like Camden.
