Employer Spotlight

Anthony Rivisto: King County Life Director

Why do you like to hire college students?

I love the enthusiasm and willingness to learn that college students have. For the students who have studies that line up with the work we do in the community, it is a great component to deepen their learning experience while hearing and growing from the lives of the youth we work with through City Life.

Did you work when you were in college or high school? What was that like?

I did. I had a work-study position at the Wallingford Boys & Girls Club. I loved it. I would go to the after-school program that they had throughout the week, help with homework, snack and fun activities. It was a lot of fun and I was really amazed at all that goes into youth serving organizations!

City Life Ministry Program:

City Life focuses on serving kids in tough places where they live, their neighborhoods and schools. We run after school programs and drop-in centers near the schools so that we can minister to kids academically, socially and spiritually.

City Life leaders share the hope of Jesus through intentional discipleship. By strategically developing young leaders within a neighborhood, those students are then given opportunities to give back to their own community and disciple others. This "indigenous" leadership model puts young leaders back into their own communities, building them up from the inside, and inspires the next generation who comes after them to also reach their full potential in Christ.

Do you have any advice for students who are looking for a job, or are thinking about looking?

1) Ask yourself what your interests are and what makes you come alive and then find a position that runs in line with that. OR 2) think about a skill that you will need for your future (book keeping, customer service, counseling, etc) and find a position that will enable you to build your ability in that skill set.

Opportunities at Youth for Christ:

Seattle Youth for Christ is hiring YFC Interns to serve at our sites across King County. The internship offers a quarterly scholarship ranging from $1200-$1800 per quarter for SPU students. Interns help as tutors, small group facilitators, game runners, bible study leaders, supportive listeners, and mentors. With the sites we have across King County, many of our interns participate in winter and summer camps, which are memorable and impactful times for youth and leaders.

If interested, or to apply please contact tony@yfcseattlemetro.com or fill out the online application on the Youth for Christ website.

REMINDER

For those students who have relied on the bus passes that SPU provides for check out at the UNICOM desk in the Sub, this is a reminder that bus passes are not available in the summer! Bus passes with return again in the fall, but for the summer season, you will have to find a new way to obtain bus fare or find a new source of transportation
